

Exploring Race, Censorship and American Character

Linda Brovsky interviews Kenneth Jones about his play, Alabama Story, which details how a Garth Williams book about two bunnies prompted a statewide ban and a national discussion on race and censorship in 1950s South. Via Zoom; call-in option also available.

Tuesday, Jan. 19 2 p.m.

Registration required; call the Village Center at 301-656-2797 or email info@friendshipheightsmd.gov
for information.

Deadline to register is Monday, Jan. 18.